PREFACE

This work was started in 1932, and though not complete, we are writing it, as far as known, in the hope that other information regarding the early origin of the Garvin family will come to light.

The data for the history of the Garvin family has been gathered from various sources. Old clippings, documents of all kinds, also historic State papers have been referred to. Different branches of the family, too, have given us contributions and although not a complete history of the entire family, those related to the Shapleigh, Maine, branch will find most of their ancestors' records.

There are more personalities in this little volume than are usual in a book of its kind, but we feel that these are just the little things posterity will be interested in, and we endeavor to show the characteristics of the Garvin family.

All branches of the family have not been traced, but the direct line of the Shapleigh branch, through Paul, son of Capt. James Garvin of Somersworth, New Hampshire, mentions most of Paul's descendants.

The accompanying index lists those mentioned and should there be any names not included we will be glad to add them.

THE GARVIN FAMILY date their ancestry in this country to James Garvin of Ireland, who settled in what is now the town of Rollinsford, New Hampshire (formerly Somersworth, New Hampshire) early in 1700. He was a sea captain and built a store at the lower landing where he sold West India goods. (From a "History of Strafford & Rockingham Counties" by D. Hamilton Hurd, page 680.)

From another source we read that previous to their living in North of Ireland the Garvin family lived near Dumbarton in Scotland, from whence they fled during the reign of Charles II of Scotland, 1650-1685, rather than renounce their religion. They joined a colony of Covenanters that had been established in the northern part of Ireland near Londonderry in 1684.

Early in the history of the town of Somersworth, New Hampshire, they had a schoolmaster named Joseph Tate. He kept a record of families there and it has come down to the present time through a gentleman who owns it in Dover, New Hampshire. A copy of it is in the New Hampshire Historical Society Building in Concord, New Hampshire. The very first family he lists is that of the Garvin family—children of Capt. James Garvin. This record, too, has been printed in the Wentworth Family History, an edition of three volumes which is in the Genealogical department of most public libraries.

As several children of Captain James Garvin married Wentworth's, there are many Garvin's included in the history.

TATE'S RECORD

Capt. James Garvin who married Sarah Hobbs.

- James Garvin, born Friday, September 18, 1747
 - Sarah Garvin, born August 19, 1750
 - Ebenezer Garvin, born August 19, 1752
 - Rachel Garvin, born March 6, 1755
 - John Garvin, born May 12, 1757
 - Thomas Garvin, born July 8, 1759, or July 3
 - Paul Garvin, born Saturday, November 21, 1761
 - Moses Garvin, born February 29, 1764
 - Elizabeth Garvin, born May 3, 1772
- (Note the similarity of first names repeated for a number of generations.)

Capt. James Garvin's wife, Sarah, was a daughter of James Hobbs and Rebecca Hobbs, one of the inhabitants of Dover, New Hampshire. They had a daughter, born July 20, 1727, and a brother, Moses Hobbs, an early settler of Somersworth. The Hobbs family was one of the early families in Hampton, New Hampshire. Capt. James Hobbs died in Somersworth, May 21, 1769.

The following record is taken from "Historical Sketch of Somersworth" by Hon William Knapp. "Capt. James Garvin was one of the purchasers of pews in the meeting house of Somersworth, New Hampshire, in the year 1772."

Of this second generation we have the information:

1. JAMES²—Married December 19, 1770. Dorothy, daughter of Lieut. Benjamin and Deborah (Stimpson) Wentworth. Dorothy was born January 18, 1751. They had two children, Sally (married Charles Pray) and J. Ebenezer. James Ebenezer³ (born March 17, 1773, died May 15, 1858) married Lydia Wentworth (born August 20, 1772, died ——— 1856). Their son Ebenezer Garvin⁴ (born August 6, 1815, died ———) married Almira Lang (born November 11, 1824, died June 27, 1913). Children:

1. James W. Garvin⁵ (born January 11, 1849, died December 30, 1907) married March 7, 1872, Charlotte Maleham (born May 21, 1849); children Bertha Maud⁶ (born February 12, 1873), Clara Maleham (born November 15, 1875), James Philip (born June 16, 1880), Samuel Francis (born December 27, 1885) married Ina Ernestine Brackett (born February 12, 1887); children 1 James Wentworth (born April 16, 1915), 2 Samuel Brackett (born October 29, 1917), 3 Daniel George (born April 6, 1921) now living at Hastings, N. Y.

Mary Almira (born March 9, 1890), Charlotte Rosanna (born December 5, 1891).

2. Mary Eliza (born August 21, 1852, died February 17, 1874) unmarried.
3. Samuel Francis (born February 21, 1858, died January 2, 1886) unmarried.
4. Lydia Maria (born August 4, 1861, died July 18, 1882) unmarried.
5. John Howard (born July 15, 1866) married Katherine Dow, born at Salem, Mass., August 12, 1864.
2. SARAH²—Married Samuel Ham. Died before her father, Capt. James, leaving children mentioned in will, James (born August 8, 1771), Lydia (born May 5, 1773), Dorcas (born June 16, 1775).
3. EBEN—We know nothing about: he is not mentioned in Will. Story is that he died in Tinmouth Prison, England (date unknown.)
4. RACHEL—Married George Ham of Portsmouth.
5. JOHN—Died before father, Capt. James.
6. MOSES—Not mentioned in Will.
7. ELIZABETH—Married Thomas Roberts of Somersworth, a tailor (born at Somersworth March 22, 1760, died December 7, 1810.) Son of Alexander and Rebbecca (Garland) Roberts.
8. 9.—THOMAS and PAUL are mentioned later.

The first Census of 1790 lists heads of families, and gives Capt. James, also Thomas, his son, as heads of families in Somersworth, New Hampshire.

Some of the old deeds show Capt. James Garvin as owning land as early as 1753. His signature is also in the old Selectmen's record book at Somersworth, N. H., for year 1757.

James Garvin, of the Parish of Somersworth, in the Parish of Dover, mariner, for 195 pounds, old tenor, bought of James Hobbs, December 19, 1753, a tract of land in said Parish 100 ft. by 60 ft., joining the way that passes from the country road to the River, on the southerly side of the land where said Hobbs then lived, bounded by Archibald Smith land, where his dwelling house stands.

The same day he bought of Capt. Smith a piece 4 rods square bounded easterly by Newichewanack River, southerly, and westerly by Samuel Roberts' land and northerly by Capt. James Hobbs' land for 20 pounds, old tenor.

He bought a tract of 20 acres of Ebenezer Wier for 1600 pounds December 4, 1754, and 16 acres adjoining the highway that leads to Quamphegan and the highway that leads to Somersworth Meeting House of widow Sarah Weymouth and Nicholas Weymouth for 1500 pounds June 16, 1756.

And in partnership with Richard Philpot and James Hobbs, a tract of land 50 acres in extent near the Great Falls on Salmon River for 53.25 pounds April 2, 1761.

10 acres more of B. & Wm. Morgridge for 56—6 pounds April 30, 1757.

22 acres in partnership with Thomas Wallingford for 3300 pounds July 30, 1763, and a wharf warehouse and land lying on Newichawanick River of Archibald Smith for 600 pounds November 30, 1764.

This made him owner of large amounts of land and he seemed to have held most until his death. Dover, New Hampshire, deeds also show he began to look northward and speculate on the advance of the ear of empire in that direction.

August 13, 1762 he bought of Elizabeth Cromwell of Somersworth for 150 pounds, all that tract of land of a township which was granted by the Purchasers of John Grafton Mason, Esq.—his right to John Ham, Gershom Downs and others and joining to the head line of Rochester and on Salmon River, Share No. 67—in the first division. This deed is indexed in the record book as land in Wakefield.

A provision for the incorporation of the town of Wakefield, August 29, 1774 (the original of which is in the New Hampshire State Library) is printed (New Hampshire State Papers, Vol. 14, page 788).

In connection with the above a printed record of the Proprietors' meeting, June 28, 1774, at which meeting Capt. James Garvin was voted one of a Committee to get the town incorporated.

From New Hampshire public documents (printed) in a paper translated from the French printed in Vol. XVIII, New Hampshire State Papers, page 521. The document is an appeal made by the commander of a French Privateer who could not collect a ransom he claimed to be his due. He captured two American (or, as they were technically called "English") vessels and compelled their owners and captains to make out "bills" or notes, promising to pay him large sums of money. For the security of the payment he took a hostage from each vessel. The men thus taken both died and the Americans refused to pay the "bills." Where the capture took place and where the vessels and their masters had gone, the document does not say, but here is the fact: One of the vessels was "The Hampshire" of which James Garvin, merchant, of the Port of Piscataqua, was said to be the owner and Capt. James Guppey, her captain; and the date at which they gave their bill to clear themselves and their present vessel was April 14, 1761.

Items from the New Hampshire Gazette of the following dates, 1766-1770, often mention "Brig Greyhound" owned by Capt. James Garvin, as sailing from Port Piscataqua for Barbadoes and West Indies.

The Somersworth Congregational Church was not formed until 1828.—so no early records can be found there.—but Miss Anne Bertha Garvin of Salmon Falls (we visited here in 1932) has given us much old information about the family. She is a descendant from one of Capt. James' children (son Thomas). In an old letter to her father, William R. Garvin, in 1896, a Mr. Foote inquires for information regarding Capt. James Garvin. The answer to this letter gives this information:

"Capt. James came over as a cabin boy and we know nothing about him before coming to this country. He was buried in our field a few rods from our house but his remains were taken up several years ago and buried in Rollinsford Cemetery and the stones are now old and broken down. Rollinsford was then called Somersworth. He had three sons we know about, Thomas, Paul and James. We think he had other sons but we do not know. Paul married a Hodgson and their children were John, James, Moses, Stephen, Thomas, Paul, and some daughters. They moved to Shapleigh some time between 1810 and 1820 where their descendants now live."

A document bearing official New Hampshire State Seal is as follows:

JAMES GARVIN

Appears as a lieutenant on a payroll of Capt. Moses Yeaton's Company, Col. Joshua Wingate's Regiment of Volunteers, which Regiment marched from the State of New Hampshire and joined the Continental Army on Rhode Island in August, 1778; entered service August 6, 1778; discharged August 25, 1778. This was a Somersworth Company. (N. H. Rev. Rolls, Vol. 2, page 573.)

Also on a list of Somersworth men who received a bounty of ten pounds each for enlisting for one month in the Rhode Island Expedition in August, 1778. (N. H. Rev. Rolls. Vol. 4. page 260.)

On a roll of members of the Fourth Provincial Congress of New Hampshire, which met at Exeter, May 17, 1775, appears the name of Capt. James Garvin as a member from Somersworth. (N. H. Provincial Papers. Vol. 7. page 469.)

The York Co. Atlas lists Capt. James Garvin as a Proprietor of Shapleigh, Maine.

Early deeds at Dover, N. H., record Paul of Shapleigh, Me., and Thomas of Rollinsford, N. H., conveying property to a party together, proving their relationship.

MAINE

Maine, which had been a part of Massachusetts, wanted to become a separate State. Massachusetts gave her consent and Maine was admitted as a free state in 1820. There were eighteen states then.

Acton, Maine, was a part of Shapleigh till 1830. The beginning of Alfred and Shapleigh, is given in Maine Historical and Genealogical Record, page 283, book 9. It consisted of land on Piscataqua and Saco River.

A Poem, titled "Mary Garvin," by John Greenleaf Whittier, written 1856, appears in 1888 Edition of Complete Poems, page 49. It tells of the early life of Maine settlers and may be one of the Garvin ancestors.

This book is in original writing of the minutes of meetings held in connection with property at Shapleigh. Mentions Capt. James Garvin of Somersworth, N. H., as a proprietor and states he did not live in Shapleigh but had improved the property in question—2nd Range, lot 16. The dispute over property was allowed in 1784 by Supreme Court, Salem.

Maj. Nicholas Shapleigh, who purchased a tract of land in Shapleigh from a Mr. Small but the deed being lost, and not recorded, no attempt was made to occupy these lands until the discovery of deed in 1770, by the descendants of Mr. Small, when the heirs of the two Proprietors at once had it placed on record and proceeded to establish their claim. The list of lawful heirs at time of drawing, of Nicholas Shapleigh gives Capt. James Garvin's name among them. The deed was an Indian deed, and one of the show deeds of York Co. (York Co. History and Shapleigh History, by Loring)

THOMAS GARVIN

MRS. THOMAS GARVIN
(nee Louisa Ross)

Thomas³ (Paul², James¹) died a resident of Shapleigh, Maine, intestate. Administration of his estate was granted Hugh Ross Garvin, his son, who was ordered to give bond to the sum of One Thousand Dollars. (Alfred, York County Records)

Thomas is buried in Shapleigh on the old Garvin Farm, as is his father Paul and brother James.

Old town records in Shapleigh show his having been Selectman for the years 1810-11-13-19 and 1850. He was Town Clerk in 1843. Was elected Member of House of Representatives, State of Maine, for years 1850-51.

Thomas³ was born March 16, 1804, died July 26, 1880. He married April 29, 1827—as Shapleigh records show—Louisa Ross, daughter of Simon and Patty Ross, born July 26, 1808, died Sept. 4, 1868. Louisa Ross' record of marriage to Thomas Garvin is given in Vol. 3, page 159, Colonial Families, by McKenzie. The Ross family also have a Revolutionary War ancestor as the following record proves:

THE GARVIN MACHINE CO.. NEW YORK CITY

3. Hugh Ross Garvin¹ (Thomas³, Paul², James¹) married Martha Seavey (born Jan. 29, 1832, died April 6, 1888).

They were married by Rev. John Chase at bride's home in Alfred, Nov. 2, 1856. They moved from Alfred to Hartford, Conn., in 1856 where Hugh R. was contractor in Colts' Armory. Later he lived in Waterborough, Maine, Yonkers, N. Y., Jersey City, N. J., and Lakewood, N. J. After the Civil War he started in business in New York City, the firm name being E. E. Garvin & Co. The Garvin Machine Co. was an outgrowth of the older organization, being incorporated in 1889. For many years the Garvin Machine Co. (located at Spring and Varick Sts.) was well known as makers of milling machines, screw machines and tapping machines and other metal working machines. During the World War they had many war contracts but after the war and the years of depression in business that followed, they were forced to liquidate. Three generations were employed in this business. The name "Garvin Machine Co." was known throughout the world. Eugene's sons Warren and Roger, and George's sons Roy and Burr, continued the business after the death of George K. Garvin in 1919. Hugh R. is buried with his wife in Woodlawn Cemetery, New York City, in the Garvin plot.

Continuing the fourth generation:

4. Martha A. Garvin¹ (Thomas³, Paul², James¹) Married (June, 1855) Horace P. Abbott. Children:

Wm. Henry Abbott (born Mar. 13, 1856, died May 3, 1858).

Eliza M. Abbott (born Mar. 14, 1860).

5. Louisa Garvin¹ (Thomas³, Paul², James¹) married Franklin Pray, Oct. 22, 1853. Their child:

Hattie B. (born June 10, 1856) married Mar. 1, 1885, at Colorado Springs, Colo., John Franklin Tritch.

Fourth Generation—Minnesota Branch

6. Thomas Garvin, Jr. (born July 23, 1837, died May, 1892) married (1857) Sophronia Pillsbury (born 1826, died 1904).

Thomas, Jr.⁴ (son of Thomas³, Paul², James¹) was born in Shapleigh, Maine. His children, most of whom live in Minnesota, are the following:

1. Walter V. (born Nov. 7, 1861).

2. Clara E. (born Jan. 12, 1859).

3. Ida (born 1863, died 1884).

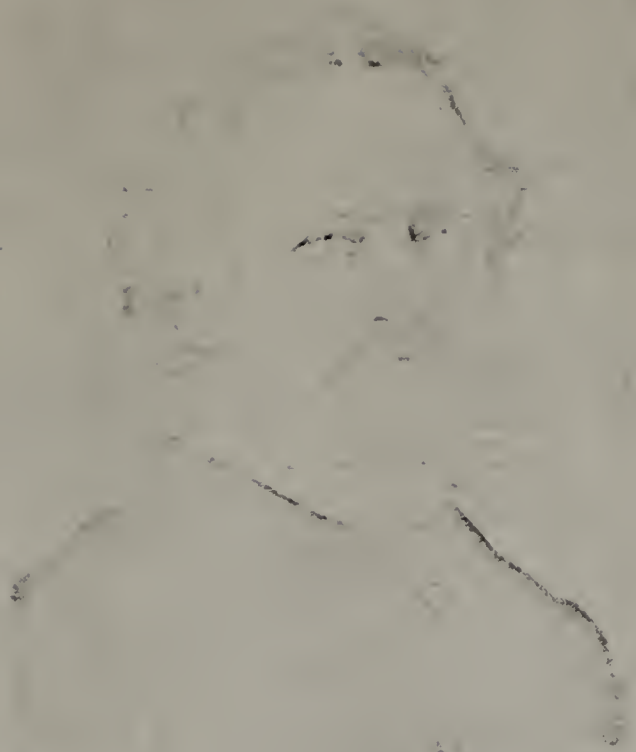

4. Charles E (born July 7, 1865).

5. Ross (born 1867, died 1884).

The obituary notice of Thomas gives a history of his life. He and his wife are buried in Good Thunder, Minn.

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF H. R. GARVIN

On December 21, 1887, Mr. H. R. Garvin died, in the fifty-sixth year of his age. His life is another illustration of what energetic and industrious young men can accomplish. Mr. Garvin was born in Shapleigh, Maine; and his early years were spent on a farm. In 1814 he began to learn the machinist trade, and through his energy and attention to business soon worked himself into the front ranks. At one time he was a contractor in the Colt's Armory, Hartford, Conn., and some time after he was a contractor in the Star Armory, Yonkers, N. Y. In starting business he met with reverses and obstacles, which, through his courage and energy, he overcame. About ten years ago he formed a partnership and commenced business, under the name of E. E. Garvin & Co., on one floor in the building now occupied by the firm at 139-143 Centre Street, New York City. Their business was then as at present, the manufacture of machinery and machinists' tools. Through Mr. Garvin's experience in the use and building of this class of machinery and close attention to business, success was attained, and from time to time the business had to be enlarged to its present large capacity of building the class of machinery named. The business will be continued as formerly, his sons succeeding to his interest in the firm.--[Taken from American Machinist, issue of January 14, 1888.]

Obituary Notice

DEATH OF AN OLD SETTLER

We regret to announce the death of Thos. Garvin, Esq., one of the early settlers of Lyra Township, who departed this life on Tuesday morning at the age of 54 years.

Mr. Garvin was born in Shapleigh, Maine, in 1837, was reared on a farm and lived there until 1857 when he removed to Garden City, Minnesota, where for several years he worked the farm now occupied by Eld. J. Rockwood. When the Winnebago Indian Reservation was thrown upon the market, he purchased 160 acres in Lyra township, Blue Earth County, Minnesota, removed thereon in 1867, breaking and making improvements. By frugal industry and excellent judgment, he soon acquired more land and took front rank among our best and most successful farmers, and was the proud owner of one of the best farms in Blue Earth County, which he adorned with fine buildings and groves, upon which he intended to spend the fruits of his labor in his old age, but about five years ago he was attacked with that dread disease paralysis and sought relief in Southern climate but it proved of no avail. He returned, and by the aid of a strong constitution has for four years resisted the final call, although during the time he has been almost a helpless invalid, he has been a helpless sufferer, never complaining of his lot.

He was highly esteemed by his friends and neighbors, being a man of sterling integrity and moral worth, and they delighted to place him in positions of trust and honor, all of which he discharged with fidelity. He was an active member in the Baptist church and they will feel that they have lost a bright and shining light, one whose counsel they were glad to heed. He died as he had lived, a Christian's hope. He leaves a wife, two sons and one daughter, to mourn his loss, also sisters and brothers, besides neighbors and acquaintances who sympathize with the bereaved family.

The funeral will be held at the Baptist church at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

Fifth Generation—Minnesota Branch

Walter V.⁵ (Thomas Jr.⁴, Thomas³, Paul², Capt. James¹) was born Nov. 7, 1861, and married April 7, 1890, Emma Rosin (born Aug. 9, 1872, died Feb. 13, 1913, Mankato, Minn.). Their children were:

"When Lt. Broomfield first joined the 90th Squadron, he was assigned to the duty of Field Officer, just as the St. Mihiel attack was started, and carried out his duties as such in the most efficient manner. We was always very conscientious and devoted to his work, and a little later when flying over the lines, exhibited remarkable daring and skill as a pilot, and as a result of his work, our troops reveived a great deal of very valuable information.

As Commanding Officer of the Third Observation Group I wish you to know that he was ever a true patriot and good soldier. and as his comrade I hope you will appreciate how we all loved him.

Very sincerely.

W. G. SCHAUFFLER, JR..

Captain A. S. U. S. A.. Commanding."

Portland, Oregon.

Dear Mr. Broomfield.

Long before this letter can reach you, you will have received official word of the death in action of your son, 1st Lieut. Hugh Broomfield, on the 21st of October, 1918.

That day was an important one in the Verdun offensive, which is now reaching a splendid culmination. We received an urgent message from the Corps Commander requesting that a plane be sent over the German lines to ascertain the enemy's power of launching a counter attack.

Lieut. Broomfield and his observer, Lieut. E. B. Cutter, were next on the alert list, and in spite of unfavorable weather, were eager to go. The sky was full of low-lying clouds, with open spaces between them, a condition which favors surprise attacks by enemy planes and machine gun fire from the ground. They left our airdrome (then at Somilly) at about 10.00 o'clock. When they had failed to return by 12.00 o'clock we made inquiries of all balloon and ground units that could be reached by telephone and learned that an allied plane had been seen to fall at about 11:15, in the sector over which they were operating, within the German lines. Our investigation was thus suspended, and although this report caused us much anxiety we hoped that we should hear that our comrades were safe, even though prisoners in Germany.

A few days ago our lines advanced again so as to comprise the territory over which they had flown. We immediately caused the distribution of 500 copies of the enclosed circular, and on the morning of November 7th received a telephone message stating that a wrecked plane was lying at the point in question. Our Squadron Surgeon, 1st Lieut. J. J. Livingston, volunteered to go at once to the spot, and it is characteristic of the attitude of all members of this Squadron toward your son, that Corporal Croft (who was his chief mechanic) begged me to allow him to go also.

They set out at noon on the 7th, passing through Mont Faucon and reaching Cunel over mired and shattered roads, exposed to enemy artillery fire, after nightfall. On the morning of the 8th (yesterday) they found the plane and nearby the two graves of our comrades. The bodies were carefully removed under Dr. Livingston's direction, and he tells us there is no question about their identity, which is established by the temporary markers, and the identification tags. They were carried in our ambulance to Evacuation Hospital No. 6, located at Souilly (on the road between Barle-Duc and Verdun) where they arrived yesterday evening. This afternoon Lieut. Foster and I, representing the Squadron went to Souilly and attended the funeral and burial service. The only available Chaplain was the Rev. J. R. O'Mahoney of the Catholic Diocese of New York City, an excellent and broadminded Priest, who was glad, at my request, to read the Protestant service from my Episcopal prayerbook. We saw that the marker was properly inscribed at the head of the grave before we left.

The grave is 89, plot No. 2, Section D, American cemetery at Souilly-sur-Meuse, and the cemetery adjoins Evacuation Hospital No. 6 at that place.

Lieut. Broomfield joined our Squadron on the 7th of September, just before we took part in the St. Mihiel offensive. During the three busy days of September 12, 13 and 14 he firmly established himself in our affections as a modest gentleman and an efficient officer, by the manner in which he performed the exacting duties as Officer of the Field. He had complete charge of field operations and was responsible for the prompt departure of all missions during the offensive. He was on the field from dawn till dark every day and his energy and tact were very largely responsible for the unusual record of flights made by this Squadron at that time, a record which was mentioned in orders.

After the St. Mihiel offensive he began his active career as a pilot at the front, and after a very few hours over the lines made his reputation as solid among us as those of pilots who had been at the front months instead of weeks. Until the time of his loss I was his Flight Commander, and Capt. Schauffler (now commanding the Third Observation Group, of which the squadron is a part) was our commanding officer. We frequently had occasion to comment upon his coolness and skill as a pilot, after missions in which he had enabled his observer to bring back full and accurate reports under adverse conditions of weather or enemy fire from the ground. It was on just such a mission that he and Lieut. Cutter were lost to us. Their last flight was not only in keeping with the traditions which have grown about the 90th Squadron—it has added to and enhanced them. They and their work will remain ever fresh in our memories, and memories are made long of friends and associations formed in danger faced together.

Lieutenant Broomfield was as much enjoyed and liked as a friend as he was admired as a pilot. His modesty and reticence were no obstacle to the warm welcome he won among all of our officers and those of our enlisted men with whom he came in contact. There was something in his personality which shone through them and made him attractive to us from the first. Though he was not given to discussing religious matters, we felt that he was a man of strong Christian convictions. Lieut. Foster remarked to me just before the funeral that it was a source of pleasure to him to recall that Hugh had spent some time reading his Testament the night before his loss.

Now that the great war seems to be drawing to a glorious close, we of the 90th feel that no single officer has contributed more of unselfish devotion to duty in waging it than your son and our comrade, Lieut. Broomfield, and so we are proud of his death as we have been of his life with us. For the Squadron and for myself I send you the warmest sympathy in your great loss and am, believe me,

Ever sincerely yours,

MORRIS E. PIERSON,

1st Lt., A. S. U. S. A., Commanding Squadron.

Continuing Children of Thomas³

8. Paul Garvin¹ (Thomas³, Paul², James¹) married Jennie Beansy (Mrs. Talmadge of Lakewood, N. J.) He was a veteran of Civil War, Co. K, 27th Inf., York County, Maine.

Mrs. Paul Garvin died at Hartford, Conn., after Paul's death some years previous. They had no children.

9. Almeda Garvin¹ (Thomas³, Paul², James¹) (born April 9, 1846, died July 3, 1909) married B. F. Webber of Shapleigh, Me. (born Oct. 1835, died Dec. 1906). Married 1868. Buried at New Ulm, Minnesota. One child:

B. Frank Webber, Jr. (born April 19, 1876, at New Ulm, Minn.) married Franc Davis (Aug. 8, 1906). Their children: Donald Garvin Webber (born Mar. 3, 1910, at Minneapolis, Minn.); Elizabeth Louise Webber (born Oct. 28, 1912, in Ontario, California).

10. Charles Olin Garvin¹ (Thomas³, Paul², James¹) (born May 2, 1849, died Jan. 15, 1920) married Flora Carpenter (born July 7, 1855, died May 13, 1916).

Charles Olin Garvin was born at Shapleigh, Maine, where he spent his early years, later going to New York City.

During the Civil War he was with the 2nd Cav., Co. M, of York County, Maine.

For many years Charles O. Garvin, brother of Hugh R., was associated with the Garvin Machine Co. in New York City.

He died in New York City and was buried at Surrey, N. H., where his wife, Flora Carpenter, was buried before him. Charles O. left no children. His estate was left to his great nieces and nephews through a very generous will of which his great nephew, Roger Baldwin Garvin of Englewood, N. J., was executor.

The Fifth Generation

Children of Hugh Ross Garvin¹ (Thomas³, Paul², James¹) and Martha Seavy:

Eugene Everett Garvin (born Aug. 3, 1857, died Mar. 19, 1916).

George Kinne Garvin (born May 2, 1859, died Feb. 20, 1919).

Frank Weed Garvin (born March 12, 1861).

1. Eugene Everett Garvin² (Hugh Ross¹, Thomas², Paul², James¹) was born at Hartford, Conn. He attended Hasbrouck Institute in Jersey City and later College in New York City. He entered business with his father, Hugh R. in the Garvin Machine Co., which at one time was called Eugene E. Garvin Co., and he was Vice-President and Treasurer at the time of his death. He married, August 1, 1880, Isabella Van Cott Baldwin (born Oct. 28, 1861, died Nov. 9, 1931). She was a descendant of the Gideon Baldwins of Long Island mentioned in Baldwin Genealogy. They lived in New Rochelle, N. Y. In the year 1888 they purchased a 13-room house on a large plot of ground in Englewood, N. J. It was then a country town. They had many horses and carriages. It was before the day of automobiles and to go to the station for trains was not the easy task it is now. Some of the children have since built homes on the property that was their father's but the old home has been torn down. He is buried with his wife in Woodlawn Cemetery, New York City, in the Garvin plot.

GARVIN PLOT AT WOODLAWN, NEW YORK CITY

2. George Kinne Garvin³ (Hugh Ross¹, Thomas², Paul², James¹) was born at Hartford, Conn. Later when his family moved to Jersey City, N. J., he received his education at Hasbrouck Institute of that city and in the public schools of New York City. He entered business at the age of 16 with the firm of Smith & Garvin. Later he became President of the Garvin Machine Co. which office he held until his death. He married Ella Conklin on Sept. 9, 1884, daughter of Robert H. Conklin (son of John Conklin and Eliza Procheus). Ella Garvin's mother was Eliza C. Van Allen (born Sept. 11, 1838, in Ghent, N. Y., died Dec. 6, 1921). They resided in New York City and West Englewood, N. J. His wife died in 1912 and on March 31, 1917, he married Dorothy Mahon of New York City. A daughter, Georgina, was born to them January 7, 1918. They lived in Garden City, N. Y., where he died in 1919. He was a member of Engineers' Club, The American Society of Engineers and Garden City Club. He is buried in Woodlawn, New York, in Garvin plot.

3. Frank Weed Garvin⁵ (Hugh Ross Garvin⁴, Thomas³, Paul², James¹) was born at Waterborough, Maine, March 12, 1861. At the age of three years, the family moved to New York, where his father was starting in business.

Later he attended Hasbrouck Institute, Jersey City, where the family resided for a number of years. He also attended school at Lakewood, N. J., when the factory was located there. When eighteen years of age he entered the Garvin Machine Co., later becoming Secretary, which office he held until his retirement in 1904.

He then travelled in Europe, spending most of his time in Southern France.

On June 7, 1921, he married Edith Williams. They now reside in San Diego, California, spending their summers in Maine at Fort Ridge Homestead, North Alfred. This was formerly known as the Seavy Place, his mother's old home which his brother Eugene had owned and remodeled into a modern country home.

For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet on Oct. 18 after the advance of his company had been stopped by strong hostile machine gun fire. Private Frank Garvin with three companions advanced far ahead of the front line to attack an enemy's position located in large farmhouse. By skillful manoeuvring in the broad daylight they covered all entrances to the house and forced the surrender of the entire force of the enemy, numbering 36 men and two officers. During the exploit they killed two Germans who attempted to take cover in the cellar.

Sailed for home aboard the S. S. Leviathan from Brest, France, Feb. 29, 1919, landing in New York City March 6, 1919, discharged at Camp Upton April 2, 1919.

Was in the never-to-be-forgotten New York City "Welcome Home Parade" to the 27th Infantry, 7th Regiment.
